MUSEUM LAUNCHES “CLOCK TOWER SOCIETY” TO GROW ENDOWMENT

Last year (2013) was an important one for the Mount Airy Museum of Regional History. It marked twenty years since a group of citizens pooled their talents and resources and established the museum. Since that time the museum has grown into one of the premier local history museums in the state if not the region.

In 2000 the museum’s leadership saw the value in creating an endowment fund to help ensure the long-term financial security of the museum. With contributions from the community that fund was established and continues to slowly grow. The goal is for this fund ultimately to provide a significant portion of the museum’s operating revenue in perpetuity.

In an effort to ensure that the endowment reaches that level the museum is launching a new affinity group dedicated to growing the endowment through annual gifts and estate planning. This new group is called the “Clock Tower Society.” The society membership is open to anyone who recognizes that their regular and ongoing financial support is important to the current and future operations, but that there still exists an additional need to invest in the future of the museum.

For more information about the Clock Tower Society or to become a member contact Matt Edwards at 339-786-4778 x 224 and help ensure that the Mount Airy Museum of Regional History will be a bastion of regional history for generations to come.
I pondered for a long time about exactly what I would talk about in my comments this time around. The 2013 calendar year was a great year here at the museum with the launch of “The Lutherian’s Craft” traveling exhibit and the geocaching program. Then there’s the new “Clock Tower Society” you read about on the previous page. Generally, things are really going pretty well around here right now thanks to the support of folks like you. But all my pontification came to a screeching halt when I found out about how the changes in the state tax laws regarding sales tax on admissions (H 8986) were going to affect the museum, and I felt like I needed to share that information with you as museum members and supporters. This was not a complete surprise, but almost. There had been some buzz in the museum community about this topic early last year—but not much—and it had largely died out until I was invited to participate in a webinar in November on what the changes meant. This was a bit of a shock since late in the summer I asked a legislator outright if we needed to be concerned about the changes and was told that it shouldn’t affect us much, if at all—sadly that is not the case. Buried deep in the legislation that reformed the income tax system in North Carolina were a couple of small lines that eliminated long-standing exemptions for “attractions” and it made no distinction between non-profit and for-profit attractions: although it DID exempt state run attractions like historic sites, state museum, aquariums, etc.

As the legislation is written, beginning January 1, we (the museum) are responsible for paying several new taxes at a total rate of 7%. Now that may not sound like a big deal, but effectively we are going to have to find about another $10,000 each year to offset these new taxes and or pass them directly along to our patrons and members. In December, I worked with the museum’s board of Directors to formulate a plan on exactly how we are going to move forward implementing these changes and they were put in place effective January 1, 2014.

So here’s what you can expect to see change.

1. Museum admissions are going up, pretty much by $1 at each level. Sales tax will be included in that and we’re hopeful that the small bit of extra revenue will help to offset the new bookkeeping expenses we’re going to see associated with these changes.

2. Memberships were a tricky one to deal. Because we offer a free admission “ perk” with memberships a portion of each membership is now taxable. We considered removing that perk, but we felt it’s a valuable part of what we offer to our members. After looking over our membership numbers across the categories we’ve decided to make a $5 increase to individual and family memberships.

3. Fundraising events that include any type of “entertainment” are the other confusing part of this. The initial legislation allowed for only 2 tax exempt fundraising events each year, and those were the first two in the calendar year. We’re still working out how to deal with this, but a recent clarification from the legislature seems to suggest that we’ll be able to exempt other fundraisers, but they will have to be earmarked for specific projects not general operating expenses.

Please know and understand that the changes we have made are a direct response to this new legislation and are simply a cost of doing business for us. Our goal is to minimize the financial impact on the museum, its members and supporters while maintaining the high quality programming and exhibits we currently offer.

Thanks for all your support. Hopefully 2014 will be a good as 2013 in spite of these new challenges.

Surprised! No, you are at the right spot just a new person. There are a few changes being made at the museum and one of them is a change for the Museum Store. Since Nancy is taking on more program responsibilities, I am going to try and relieve her of the responsibility of the store. I am here as an employee of Urban League and work 3 days a week. Recently I was at the Gift Shop at Northern Hospital for two years, first as a volunteer and then as an employee of Urban League. I am not a native of Mt. MEMBERSHIP HOT DOG & ICE CREAM SOCIAL

On August 26th, our annual Hot Dog & Ice Cream Social was held in the Museum on the 3rd floor from 5pm to 7pm. Hot dogs and more hot dogs were in abundance for all to eat with all the trimmings: sauerkraut, homemade coleslaw, chili, and all the condiments that you can put on a hot dog! Baked Beans and chips filled your plate and, as if that wasn’t enough to fill you, ICE CREAM SUNDAES! Yeal Were they ever good and, of course, we took all the calories out of the toppings. Gummy Bears, peanuts, pineapple, crushed Oreos and, last but not least, one more decision had to be made as to which syrup you wanted to use: Caramel, Strawberry or Chocolate. If you missed this year, be sure you remain a member so you will get your invitation next year and can join in the fun of socializing with other members of the Museum.

Thank you for your support.

PROGRAMS, EXHIBITS & EVENTS

An Evening with Wayne Henderson and Friends

Our current traveling exhibit, The Luther’s Craft: Instrument Making Traditions of the Blue Ridge features the work of master Luther and National Endowment for the Arts National Heritage Fellow Wayne Henderson. The Rugby, Virginia native comes from a family of craftsmen and Musicians and started honing his skills as a teen-ager.

In addition to his work crafting musical instruments, Henderson is a world renowned musician with over 300 guitar competition awards to his credit. He has played at countless venues around the world including Carnegie Hall and at 1992 Presidential Inauguration just to name a few.

On February 8, Henderson accompanied by Gerald Anderson, Spencer Strickland, and Helen White played a benefit dinner show at the Museum. This event offered a rare opportunity to see these world-class musicians playing together in an intimate setting. The performance included Henderson’s unique blend of homespun stories and humor along with some amazing picking. The event was catered by Old North State Winery with desserts provided by Mt. Angel’s Heavenly Pies.

The event was also the official unveiling of the guitar Henderson built specifically for this traveling exhibit. The Henderson USD now has replaced the guitar that was on loan during the first part of the exhibit and will be on display throughout the closing of the exhibit on March 8. In June of this year, The Luther’s Craft will begin its travel schedule with a six month stay at the Earl Scruggs Center in Shelby, NC.

BB&T Lighthouse Project

During the summer The Museum teamed up with volunteers from BB&T Blue Ridge/ Burke Insurance to enhance the “Hands- on History” Children's gallery with the addition of a replicated Wigwam, that children will actually be able to play in, and the painting of a mural that will be used as a theatrical style backdrop for the stage in the gallery. Associates from BB&T Blue Ridge / Burke Insurance contributed over 50 hours volunteer service during June and July to accomplish this task.

According to Jason Pike, the projects organizer, “We wanted to work with the Mount Airy Museum of Regional History because of the educational service they provide to our community. We are especially excited that our project will specifically contribute to the education of our local youth and represent a historical value indigenous to our community.”

BB&T hopes its efforts encourage others in the community to volunteer their time and support organizations such as the Mount Airy Museum of Regional History.

Summer Intern

Hello! My name is Susanna Pyatt, and I was an intern this summer at MAMRH. I have just completed my freshman year at the University of Oklahoma in Norman, majoring in anthropology and history and aiming at an eventual career in museum work. I have been working mostly in Collections with Amy, helping with the Geocaching for History project and especially with a large-scale artifact rehousing effort. Along with volunteer Martha Vaughn, we are pulling artifacts out of Collections to photograph and place in new storage areas or in new, archival-safe boxes. Along the way, we are also recording the objects’ conditions so that in future years the museum can track how well its collections are being preserved. Hopefully, the photographs and better storage will help improve preservation by limiting handling of the objects as well as their exposure to harmful elements. At this point, we have rehoused all of the tools, mostly for masonry or woodworking that are part of MAMRH’s holdings. We also started working on rehousing medical instruments as well as cleaning up the basement storage area. I have greatly enjoyed interning at the museum this summer and appreciate this fantastic opportunity!

Airy with the hope of working in the museum in the future. I am here as an employee of the museum and also have had experience in administrative work and retail. It has been over 2 years since I moved to Mount Airy and plan to make it my permanent home. My dog and cat like it too!

We are planning to make structural and content changes during the winter months to the store and the entry of the lobby. If you have ideas that you would like to see, I am here as an employee of the store. I am here as an employee of the Mt. Airy Museum of Regional History. I came to Mt. I pondered for a long time about exactly what I would talk about in my comments this time around. The 2013 calendar year was a great year here at the museum with the launch of “The Lutherie’s Craft” traveling exhibit and the geocaching program. Then there’s the new “Clock Tower Society” you read about on the previous page, Generally, things are really going pretty well around here right now thanks to the support of folks like you. But all my pontification came to a screeching halt when I found out about how the changes in the state taxes were going to affect the museum, and I felt like I needed to share that information with you as museum members and supporters. This was not a complete surprise, but almost. There had been some buzz in the museum community about this topic early last year—but not much—and it largely died out until I was invited to participate in a webinar in November on what the changes meant. We considered removing that perk, but we felt it was a valuable part of what we offer to our members. After looking over our membership numbers across the categories we’ve decided to make a $5 increase to individual and family memberships. Funding events that include any type of “entertainment” are the other confusing part of this. The initial legislation allowed for 2 tax exempt fundraising events each year, and those were the first two in the calendar year. We’re still working out how to deal with this, but a recent clarification from the legislature seems to suggest that we’ll be able to exempt other fundraisers, but they will have to be earmarked for specific projects not general operating expenses. Please know and understand that the changes we have made are a direct response to this new legislation and are simply a cost of doing business for us. Our goal is to minimize the financial impact on the museum, its members and supporters while maintaining the high quality programming and exhibits we currently offer. Thanks for all your support. Hopefully 2014 will be a good as 2013 in spite of these new challenges.

The Gift Shop is all ready for 2014 so be sure to remember us on your shopping days for some unique gifts! With our continuing Lutherie Craft Exhibit we have a lot of musical items, such as spoons, plastic guitars, recorders, kazoo and Big Band Sets for everyone. We have several Donna Fargo CDs that will bring back some nostalgia for you. If you’re in the mood for cooking, the “Grazing Along The Crooked Trail” can provide some new and different choices to try out. We have Museum mugs with spoons, ladles and water bottles along with children’s toys and some great area historical books that would make for great winter reading. This year big changes are in the works for our Shop. There will be structural changes and a change in some of the items we will carry. Our newest item is a line of jewelry, designed by Sassy Gems out of Greensboro. Come check it out!

Last year (2013) was an important one for the Mount Airy Museum of Regional History. It marked twenty years since a group of citizens pooled their talents and resources and established the museum. Since that time the museum has grown into one of the premier local history museums in the state if not the region.

In 2000 the museum’s leadership saw the value in creating an endowment fund to help ensure the long-term financial security of the museum. With contributions from the community that fund was established and continues to slowly grow. The goal is for this fund ultimately to provide a significant portion of the museum’s operating revenue in perpetuity.

In an effort to ensure that the endowment reaches that level the museum is launching a new affinity group dedicated to growing the endowment through annual gifts and estate planning. This new group is called the “Clock Tower Society.” The society membership is open to anyone who recognizes that their regular and ongoing financial support is important to the current and ensuring future of the museum.

For more information about the Clock Tower Society or to become a member contact Matt Edwards at 339-786-4778 x 224 and help ensure that the Mount Airy Museum of Regional History will be a bastion of regional history for generations to come.
